A BRIEF HISTORY OF CARRICK RANGERS FC

Carrick Rangers was formed in 1939, initially playing in a local summer league. The following year entry to the Minor League was approved, and a first title earned in the 1941/42 season. The step up to the Amateur League was a natural progression, and further honours arrived – two Amateur League titles and a McKelvie Cup.

It wasn't too long before the 'B' Division beckoned, and in the 1960's Carrick became something of a cup specialist with two Steel & Sons victories to go along with two Louis Moore triumphs. A League title win was also secured in 1961/62.

Carrick's halcyon period, however, was between 1972 and 1977: three 'B' Division titles, two Intermediate Cup victories, an Irish Cup win and four matches with Europe's finest in the European Cup Winners Cup, reaching the last-16 stage before losing to Southampton.

Another 'B' Division title arrived in 1983, and at the end of that season Carrick Rangers were elected to the Senior Irish League (there was no automatic promotion back then – clubs had to apply to enter that league each year and hope the existing Senior Clubs would look favourably on the request!)

Top flight football was a perennial struggle, however, with Rangers more often than not finishing at the foot of the League table. Two Irish Cup final losses (1984 and 1995) and a County Antrim Shield win in 1993 were the only highlights before a re-organisation of the League structure saw the club demoted to a new First Division in 1995.

The drop to the second tier was a lengthy and largely uneventful one, with only a Daily Mirror Cup win achieved in 2003/04 and a losing appearance in the 2008 Steel & Sons Cup Final to show for their efforts.

Fortunes changed when former player Michael Hughes returned to the club in 2010, following a very successful professional and International career, taking ownership of the club as a majority shareholder.

His involvement provided the backing that resulted in promotion being secured to the Premiership at the end of that season, courtesy of winning the Championship 1 title, and also landing the Intermediate Cup. The long awaited return was short lived, with the club relegated at the first time of asking.

In 2014/15, Carrick Rangers embarked on a remarkable campaign which culminated in another Championship 1 title, and both the Steel & Sons Cup and Intermediate Cup to complete a historic treble. That Championship 1 success also secured promotion to the Danske Bank Premiership.

It was to be a difficult time on the field, though, as the club flirted with relegation in each of the three following seasons, narrowly avoiding the drop on two occasions.

There was a temporary respite from struggles in the Premiership as Carrick reached the League Cup Final. However, the almost inevitable relegation was confirmed the following season as Carrick lost a promotion/relegation play off with Newry City.

Life back in the Championship was expected to be a time to rebuild. Early season results suggested there would be little success heading the clubs way. However, under the stewardship of new manager Niall Currie, Carrick put in a very strong finish to the campaign which secured a play-off with Ards. The resultant wins in both legs took Rangers back to the top flight at the first time of asking.

FIRST TEAM MANAGER: NIALL CURRIE

Niall Currie was appointed as Manager of Carrick Rangers on Thursday 24th May 2018.

Currie's management career started at Annagh United where, in the 2006-07 season, he guided Annagh to the semi-final of both the Bob Radcliffe Cup and the Intermediate Cup, as well as the final of the Mid-Ulster Cup before moving on to Loughgall where, in his first season at the club, he delivered a clean sweep of five trophies as the Villagers won the Championship along with the Carnegie League Cup, Bob Radcliffe Cup, Mid-Ulster Cup and Intermediate Cup.

The former Irish League goalkeeper's next role would see him appointed as Ards boss in October 2011, as he won two Championship titles at the North Down side before taking up the reigns at his hometown club Portadown, eventually parting ways in February 2018.

Coming on board as 'Gers gaffer following the side's relegation from the Premiership, Currie worked wonders in his first season to take a new squad of players and finish second in the Championship, going on to win three play-off games in six days to secure a return to the Premiership at the first time of asking.
